The two women, Mrs. Harold Beebe and Mrs. Robert Mackey, are participants in the Women's club pageant staged July 4 in conjunction with the wind-up of the second annual Fiesta Days, sponsored by the Mokena Chamber of Commerce. The Beau Brummel with the handlebar mustache and the big see-gar in his fingers is Wilbur Teske, of the Wannemacher store, in front of which this picture was taken.

Scouts Of Orland Park Spend Week In Camping

Twenty-six out of 38 members of Boy Scout Troop 318, Orland Park, spent last week learning about scoutcraft at two camps. Fourteen boys under the leadership of Troop Committeeman William Rietveld were at Camp Betz, Berrien Springs, Mich. Twelve other boys were with Scoutmaster Arthur Litwicki and his assistants Jacques Gendron and David Johnson at Kankakee state park.

The boys at Camp Betz kept busy all week attending various class sessions on many of the phases of scouting from riflery and archery to swimming and boating. Some of the boys were presented their advancement cards at a Court of Honor held on Friday night. All of the boys were observers at the Order of the Arrow ceremony on Friday night. The boys attending Camp Betz were Jeff Arp, Dave Bowman, Bill Clark, Ed Gabel, Jeff Kamps, Bill Mc-Kinley, Bill Rietveld, Dan and Mike Snodgrass, Bill Somerville, Dick Searls, Ken Taylor, Art Whaley, and Dave Whiteford. Troop committee chairman, Charles McKinley, spent Friday night camping with the boys and learning about scouting.

Scoutmaster Arthur Litwicki held an intensive on-the-site course in camping and scouting at Kankakee state park. Hikes, camp cookery, nature study, and craftsmanship were featured. For crossing a creek where a few of the scouts had taken a dunking at a previous campout, a bosun's chair was rigged by the scouts. Three cakes were baked over the campfire. Boys participating in this campout were Joel Arnold, Lloyd Christiansen, Burt Coghill, Dan Casa, Pete Gish, Tim Hoffman, Adrian Kuypers, Art Litwicki, Jr., Steve Tatro, Tom Tracy, and Cliff Watts.

Plan Free Chest X-Rays At Orland Park July 10

"When you plan your vacation schedule, don't forget to include a 'trip' to the nearest mobile unit for a free chest X-ray," said Dr. Karl H. Pfuetze, general administrator of the Suburban Cook County Tuberculosis Sanitarium Dist. "None of us likes to think of diseases in the gay carefree summer time. But we can't afford not to think of them."

Orland Park will have a one-day survey, Wednesday, July 10, when a mobile unit locates at the IGA Food Store, 143rd and LaGrange road, 1 - 8 p.m.

The Orland Park Junior Women's Club will be local sponsor. Mrs. William E. Nelson, 10155 Huntington, survey chairman, reports the following will serve: Mrs. Ronald Burman, 15029 Holiday Ct.; Mrs. Merrill Cooper, 14216 Union; Mrs. Wendelin Seng, 10156 Hyacinth; Mrs. Leroy Embury, 14943 Highland; Mrs. Victor Ebeling, 151st and West Ave.; Mrs. Billy Clark, 13801 Elm; Mrs. Kenneth De Ross, 10254 Hyacinth; and Mrs. Paul Graunke, 10145 Hyacinth.

Also serving will be: Mrs. Wayne Griffin, 14958 Highland; Mrs. James Whiteford, 13701 Elm; Mrs. John Barker, 15028 Holiday Ct.; Mrs. Clarence Creer, 14228 Union; Mrs. Billy Bishop, 10217 Hyacinth; Mrs. Douglas Proctor, 14944 Highland; Mrs. Ernest Bengtson, 14521 Westwood Dr.; and Mrs. William Shell, 10224 Hyacinth.

3 Area Residents Back From Reserve Training

Three residents of Mokena, Frankfort and Orland Park were among the more than 100 officers and men of the 259th Ordnance Co., the Joliet unit of the U.S. Army Reserve, on active duty at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. for the past two weeks.

They are: 1st Lt. Stanley G. Fritz, 14533 Woodland ave., Orland Park; Cpl. Robert M. Zitkus, of Mokena; and PFC Russell F. Beckman, Route 1, Frankfort. Beckman's brother, Verne L., is a member of the unit, but is not on active duty.

During the two-week training period members of the Joliet reserve unit were being trained in jobs similar to those they would perform in case of a national emergency.

Lt. Fritz, in addition to being assigned as platoon leader, is a supervisor over several sections where some members of the unit received on-the-job training. Zitkus attended a post supply school, receiving training in records control and supply handling. Beckman was assigned to a shop office.

Members of the unit embarked June 16 for Ft. Leonard Wood, the nation's leading engineering training center. The Joliet group returned to its home station, the newly completed Joliet Army Reserve Training Center, late last Saturday night.

The company is commanded by Capt. Calvin Peters, of Joliet.

Bells Ring For Freedom On Fourth Of July

All over the nation on the Fourth the bells of churches, schools, colleges and other places so equipped set up a great clamor.

"Ring the Bells For Freedom," a program sponsored by the Junior Women's clubs of America, was staged thru-out the United States.

One of the clubs that joined in the event was the Junior Woman's club of Orland Park.

For four minutes, beginning at 1 p.m. on the Fourth, all bells, including carillons in churches and universities, rang out as a reminder to all Americans of what the Fourth of July stands for and the hardships America endured to become the world's greatest nation "under God, with liberty and justice for all."

At Marley there was an old fashioned Fourth of July picnic, with oratory, an annual event staged by the men of the Marley Community church.

And at Mokena there was a parade, two performances of a pageant depicting the history of the village, staged by the Mokena Women's club; and the wind up of the annual Fiesta Days sponsored by the Mokena Chamber of Commerce with the selection of a queen and a display of fireworks.

The American Legion post of Orland Park also had its annual fireworks display.

MAKES ADJUSTMENT of grip before getting down to the business of giving a lesson in putting. Tom Geary, who is giving free group lessons at Willow Run Country club to women golfers, points out that the proper grip is essential in any golf shot. The women in the picture, beginning at the left, are: Jean Rodeghero, Mrs. Andy Harr whose face can't be seen because of Geary's head, Betty Nelson, Carol Pearson and Vera Richardson, all of Mokena. Break Ground On L-W High School Addition Ground was broken last week on the new $750,000 addition to the present Lincoln-Way high school building. Contracts had been previously awarded by the board of education to the Burnside Construction Co. of Chicago Heights, for the general contract, in the amount of $412,070.00; to Poehner & Dillman Co. of Joliet for $177,371. for plumbing and heating and to Thomas Reed & Son of Joliet, for $53,282 for the electrical work. The architectural firm of Childs & Smith of Chicago expressed satisfaction with these bids, representing $13.78 per square foot and .80¢ per cubic foot.

Initial preparation for this present addition originated two years ago, subsequently last December the voters approved the actual expansion program. The new addition will provide for several new classrooms, a new library, enlargement of the administrative offices; including, guidance and counseling offices, additional rooms nursing and health office, and enlarged facilities for the business office personnel. A new school bus maintenance building is included along with two additional physical education teaching areas.

Four extra large rooms of sufficient size to accommodate 120 students will be used in the schools large-group team teaching program. Rooms of this size can be designed and constructed much more economically than four conventional size rooms designed for 30 students, it was explained.

The new science laboratory will also be much larger than the conventional ones usually used. Eighty students will now be able to study biology, general science, physical or natural science at the same time, instead of the usual small group of twenty-four. These large areas enable the teachers to utilize their time and equipment to much more advantage.

The contractors have promised completion of the entire building project by Feb. 1, 1963, and are planning for an August 20 completion of the office area.

Lincoln - Way's fall enrollment will be 1,060, an increase from 940 for the school year recently concluded. A double shift will be avoided this fall, by extending the schedule, and by using certain areas temporarily which were not designed for classroom purposes. When the present addition is completed the building will be of sufficient size to house 1,250 - 1,300 students.

This number will be reached in 1965, after which one more final addition will be required. This final stage will entail a small addition of 12,600 square feet providing facilities for a maximum of 1,500 - 1,550 students. Projected enrollments indicate 1967 as the date when this capacity will be reached. Tentative plans then call for the selection of a second school site and eventually a second four year high school.

Discuss Park District, Park Tax At Frankfort

The Frankfort village board had a lengthy session Monday night, covering a wide range of subjects from the appropriation ordinance to water problems.

In the course of discussing proposed appropriations Village Attorney Albert H. Krusemark had information that had been requested on how best to support the community park. Krusemark pointed out that the board can continue to meet the expense thru use of general corporate funds; thru the formation of a park district or thru a tax levy of up to 10 cents per $100 of equalized assessed valuation.

A referendum would have to be held for either a park district or the imposition of a park tax, Krusemark explained. He added that in view of the fact that people are not inclined to vote new taxes on themselves he was inclined to believe that the formation of a park district, especially one that included a large rural area, would fail to gain sufficient support and that a park tax levy might fare better inasmuch as village residents were apt to make more use of the park than would rural residents.

Trustees Clyde Reils and Daniel Hecht believe that the interest now manifest in the park is strong enough that either proposal might succeed, and suggested that if a park district is to be considered its limits should coincide fairly close to those of the village.

No action was taken at the meeting Monday on proposing a village park tax. A park district would have to get its start thru a petition that would find approval by the county court. That tribunal would then call a referendum at which the voters would decide the fate of the issue. A park district was voted down at Frankfort some years ago, it was stated.

Krusemark also pointed out that the village can impose a levy of five cents per $100 of equalized assessed valuation for civil defense. The assessed valuation of Frankfort is expected to run around $4,400,000 expected to run around $4,400,000 so a five-cent tax would yield around $2,200.

The village could also impose a tax of five cents per $100 to replace trees lost thru disease and storm but such a tax would require a referendum.

The village spent almost $24 for a faucet for a drinking fountain at the park recently and it was only installed a couple of days when it was taken apart and strewn about.

There was some discussion between the board and a representative of the Standard Industrial Compound company relative to extension of water-mains to the new addition the firm is erecting south of its present buildings. The new addition, about 50 by 35 feet, is a machine shop. The compound alluded to in the company name is a lubricant used in wire drawing. The new machine shop will be utilized in assembling some wire drawing equipment. The village wants the company to extend the main -- an eight-inch affair, along the west side of Center road and go under the street for a lead-in. The company would be entitled to tap in fees that might be made on the extension to reimburse them for their costs.

Village Attorney Krusemark was instructed to draw an ordinance setting the license for pinball machines at $200, the same as the fee charged by Will county.

July 15 is the shut-off date in Frankfort for water users who are delinquent in the payment of their bills.

The village is planning to repair several streets. Two of them, West Bowen and Oregon are to be scarified and rebuilt. Stone will be added to 95th street and some work done on a short stretch of Center road and at the east end of Kansas street. It was announced previously that the state is to resurface White street.

LEADS IN Palos Village Players farce comedy, "Janus," to be staged five nights beginning July 10 and ending July 14, at the Village Courtyard, 123rd and 81st ave., Palos Park. Amvets Plan Own Home Charles Osborne, West 195th st., Mokena, was installed as commander of Five Points Post 183, Amvets in a public ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Oakley, Walsh Lane.

Charles Osborne, a veteran of World War II, served in the U. S. army from 1942 to 1945. He has a body and fender repair business on Front st.

Osborne succeeds Martin Murray as leader of the local post. Osborne, active in Amvets for the past few years, has served the post as senior vice commander and numerous volunteer duties within the post. He is married and has two sons and two daughters.

In accepting this office Osborne said he would like the community to know that in the past years the American veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict of this area have made considerable strides to help the community.

"We are not merely a social organization but a real part of the life of this community," he said. "In the past years much was done to contribute to the community park, the volunteer fire department and the maintenance of the Pioneer cemetery is done solely by this post."

"We are now planning to establish our own post home. It is an earnest desire of all members of this post that they will be as accepted now for their wants as they strived to help others in theirs."

Conference Changes Pastors At New Lenox

The Rev. Alfred H. Hunter, pastor of the New Lenox Methodist church, has been transferred to Oak Park where he will be pastor of the Willard Memorial Methodist church.

The Rev. Glenn E. Ames, who has been pastor of the Elmwood Park Methodist church at Chicago, will take over the New Lenox church. The Rev. Mr. Ames was pastor of the Tinley Park Methodist church before he was sent to Chicago.

The change in the New Lenox church came about thru action at the recent Rock River Conference which was held this year at Oak Park.

Appointment of pastors are a part of the work of the conference each year.

The change at New Lenox was the only one in the immediate area.

J.A. Taylor Dies Suddenly

Johnnie A. Taylor, 42, late of 118 Tonell Drive, New Lenox, died suddenly there Saturday, June 29, apparently of a heart attack.

He was a supply management officer at the Joliet arsenal, and had recently been awarded a 20 year service award by the Ammunition Procurement and Supply Agency and Joliet Arsenal.

He had lived in New Lenox one year. He was born in Elmore City, Okla.

Mr. Taylor is survived by his wife, one daughter Patricia, age 9, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Taylor Sr. of Duncan, Okla.

The body was removed to Baskerville chapel and sent on to Duncan, Okla. for services and burial on Tuesday.

SIMON ON VACATION

Frankfort Police Chief Francis Simon is on a two-week vacation, beginning today, and will be off until July 20. In his absence from duty Norman Foster will serve as the police officer for Frankfort. For the next two weeks the telephone number on which to call police is 469-5544.

GROUP LESSONS for women golfers are being given each Tuesday morning at Willow Run Country club on 187th street, Marley. Tom Geary, of Mokena, now retired, is the instructor. The lessons are free. All the women have to do to join in is get to the course by 10 a.m. and have your clubs. The lessons started last week. There are six lessons. The one last week was concerned with driving and putting. The picture above shows the class alongside a green preparatory to a lesson in putting. After the lessons the women will start playing and will form a league. All women in the area interested in golf are welcome to join the league. It was stated.

Hot? Lincolnwood Girl Scouts Hike 16 Miles

With temperatures in the high 90's last week -- and well over 100 in the sun -- most people conserved their energy by avoiding any exertion they could, but members of Girl Scout troop, No. 375 Lincolnwood were different.

Last Thursday they hiked 16 miles and as a result will receive "The Chief Shabbona Trail Medals."

The girls accompanied by two leaders Mrs. Philip Hartman and Mrs. Helen Been, and Mrs. Fred Thompson, committee mother, drove to Channahon and took off from there over the Shabbona Trail, that follows the towpath of the old Illinois and Michigan canal a portion of the way.

They began their hike at 10:40 stopped at a Boy Scout camp at 12:00 for lunch and were

Orland-Palos Y Will Take Boys To Ballgame

Saturday July 13 will be boy's day at Comiskey Park for the members and guests of the Palos Orland YMCA. The White Sox will be attempting to disprove an old theory that a new manager does not necessarily make a new team when they engage the Detroit Tigers.

A minimum of 18 boys is necessary for the program to be conducted. Registration deadline is today (July 5). A chartered bus will leave the "Y" office in Palos Heights at 10:30 a.m. and will drop the boys off at the same location approximately one hour after the ball game is over.

For further information you may contact the "Y" at GI 8-3888.

Trucks Use Secondary Roads To Escape Jams

Overcrowding of U.S. 30 has pushed truck traffic over on Sauk Trail to the south and 183rd street to the north and residents and officials in those area are now urging state and federal highway bosses to push work on on federal interstate highway 80 as a means of remedying this situation.

Mayor Leonard E. Olson, of Homewood, who is one of special area traffic committee members that would expedite work on FAI-80, said that a Cook county highway department engineer addressed the Homewood back on the trail again at 12:30 During the rest periods they read excerpts from the biography of Chief Shabbona and the history of the I. & M. canal. They arrived at Gebbard Woods at Morris about 6:15 where they were met by cars for the trip home.

"The Chief Shabbona Trail Medal," which each girl will receive, is shaped like a tepee and the red and white ribbon on which the medal is suspended symbolizes Shabbona's that the Indian and the white man could live side by side in peace.

The girls who made the hike were, Cheryl Beck, Betty Been, Lenora Diefenback, Debi Druschel, Jeannine Heitman, Ginger Rudd, Sherry Thompson, Betty Trenary and Linda Heitman, of Troop 333.

village council last week to the effect that municipality would be unable to do anything about curbing truck traffic unless it could show the overloads per axle on a truck. The fact that a truck carrying a gross overload may pound a pavement to bits doesn't seem to mean anything as far as the overweight law is concerned, he was quoted as saying.

Homewood police reported that some trucks using 183rd st., were overloaded as far as gross weight was concerned but they did not have equipment to get the load per axle and from what the state highway representative said, according to Mayor Olson, Cook county also lacks such equipment.

It was predicted sometime ago by groups interested in speeding work on the eastern link of FAI 80 between Hazel Crest and the east fringe of Joliet, that when U.S. 30 became overcrowded the truckers would branch out and take the secondary roads that were never intended as heavy duty highways. Now they are branching out and according to reports it is feared that by the time FAI 80 is built the other roads will be worn out.

The growth of U.S. 30 as a business thoroughfare has made that highway extremely congested, it was pointed out.

Representatives from the area traffic committee, headed by Mayor Maurino R. Richton, of Chicago Heights, are to see Gov. Kerner soon in an endeavor to enlist his support in getting action on the construction of FAI 80.

Christina Krapf, Life Resident Of Area, Dies At 85

Mrs. Christina Krapf, 85, died Monday, July 1, at her home in Manhattan, following a long illness.

She was a native of Green Garden township and had resided in the area all her life. Mrs. Krapf was a member of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Green Garden Methodist church and of the Mary Baker circle of King's Daughters.

Her husband, William, preceded her in death, as did a son, Alfred, a sister and two brothers.

Surviving are, one son, Milton Krapf, of Manhattan, and three sisters, Mrs. Ida Kuck, Glendive, Mont.; Miss Amelia Andres, of Blue Island; Lydia, Mrs. Frank Mueller, Joliet; six grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

Removal was to the Klemm funeral home at Manhattan and from there the body was taken to the Green Garden Methodist church on Wednesday where services were conducted at 2 o'clock with the Rev. James Swain officiating. Interment was in Green Garden cemetery.

Says Park Golf Course Fees Are Created Equal

Attorney General William Clark of Illinois has advised the state's attorney of Lake county that in his opinion a park district cannot make a greater charge for use of its facilities to non-residents of the district.

The question was raised on greens fees for a park district golf course. District residents paid a lesser fee than did non-residents, apparently on the theory that they also contributed to the upkeep of the courses thru taxes while the non-resident did not.

The attorney general holds it makes no difference where a player resides when it comes to the question of setting greens fees.

While the attorney general was discussing only park golf course it was taken to mean that a park district would have to keep all of its fees for use of park facilities the same for all users.

Hold Funeral Services For John Vogt At Mokena

John Vogt, a familiar figure on the Mokena scene, died in his sleep last Thursday (June 27) and was buried Friday following private funeral services at St. John's United Church of Christ, with the Rev. Theodore Wimmer officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

John Vogt lived the last 17 of his 75 years in Mokena. He had worked all his life and while he never had a job that was what is usually called important and was far from being in the upper income bracket, he performed his allotted tasks and saved his money.

An inheritance from an aunt enabled him to build a home on 191st street in Sunny Acres. It was small but it was his and all paid for. The past 10 years he had been drawing a social security pension and that with the money he made from odd jobs and collecting old paper enabled him to live.

A few months ago he became quite ill and was taken to Silver Cross hospital. There was surgery but after the doctors had a look and closed the incision.

Frankfort Hit By Lack Of Mass Transportation

Next Wednesday, July 10, Frankfort may be without bus transportation--officially. It has none now, it has been brought out, but that is unofficial.

The Gold Star Lines which has the franchise for serving Frankfort with buses that plied between Joliet and Chicago Heights has petitioned the Illinois commerce commission for permission to cease operation. The original petition has been amended to limit the cease operation period to five years. The Frankfort village board is on record before the ICC in emphatic opposition to such action.

The village board would like to have the Gold Star Lines to continue operations but if it can't village officials do not want an order entered which would serve to block any other bus line from serving Frankfort for the next five years.

The Gold Star Lines contend in their petition that they do not have the business in the territory they serve to operate at a profit and so ask relief from continuing with the operation.

There has been one hearing on the petition and another is set for next Wednesday. At that time the ICC is expected to act on the Gold Star petition, it was said.

The Frankfort village board members are hopeful that some other bus line will come into the territory. The Safeway bus people now serve a route between Chicago Heights and Chicago and branch east into Indiana and come as far west on U.S. 30 as Matteson. Safeway says it could make the run from Frankfort to the Chicago loop in an hour and 10 or 15 minutes, and less when the southwest leg of the Dan Ryan expressway is completed.

Lack of public transportation could choke any growth for

Before he went to the hospital John made a will. He was never married and there were no near relatives so he gave his home and whatever cash he had to St. John church.

After leaving the hospital John never regained his strength. He was still to be seen driving about in his old car wearing the cap and coat that served him all seasons, but every week he grew more frail.

A couple of weeks ago he found it beyond his strength to lift a bucket of water to fill the radiator of his car. After that he didn't do very much and last Thursday when the doctor stopped at the house to check on him, John was dead.

John was a quiet person and never sought to draw attention to himself but he probably would have liked to know that last Friday someone called the New-Bulletin:

"Who is the bell at St. John tolling for?"

And when the reporter who answered said:

"Why that's John Vogt," the person who called knew who John Vogt was.

Frankfort, it was pointed out. There are many families where the wives do not drive and without public transportation they are marooned.

Frankfort trustees feel that a bus line could do a good business in the area. The southwest region is in for a tremendous growth in the next several years, they point out, and a transportation medium in on the ground floor should prosper, they believe. A bus line that would serve Frankfort, it was stated, could serve Arbury Hills and some of the Mokena area.

The Frankfort board expects to hear soon as to the outcome of the hearing on the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. petition for a rate increase in return for a substantial increase in the range of toll free territory for Frankfort telephone customers. The village board is on record before the commission as favoring the granting of such petition. Trustee Daniel Hecht and Village Attorney Albert H. Krusemark attended the hearing.

Mayor George Sangmeister and Krusemark were at the bus hearing.

Frankfort is served by two rail lines but they haul only freight. At one time--back in the days when U.S. 30 was known as the Lincoln highway instead of a number, New Lenox and Frankfort, and the other towns along the highway between Joliet and Chicago Heights, were served by an electric interurban line that connected with other interurbans at the Heights for points north, east and south. The interurbans were listed as early automobile fatalities and the use of private cars has killed off a lot of bus lines, reports reveal. But now highways and streets are so crowded with private cars that strong effort is being made to divert such drivers to use of public conveyances.

Hold That Tax Line

The 1963 session of the Illinois legislature has ended and we are happy to report that the people have again escaped an income tax and that the proposed laws which would have permitted schools to increase taxes by a "backdoor" or "under the counter" referendum were soundly defeated.

No taxing body, regardless of the purpose for which the money is wanted or needed and the honesty of those who will have the spending of it, should be permitted to impose a tax or increase a tax unless it is first approved by the voters.

Giving governments an opportunity to impose taxes at will would wind up with all of us going bankrupt.

It is very easy to blame those in politics for the high cost of government and payrolls filled with relatives but actually all of us -- well, most of us then--are to blame. Most of us have our pet projects and we are willing to concede they are all worthwhile and beneficial to some segment of the population. But by the time each of us gets his particular project or cause properly financed a lot of tax money has gone down the drain.

The more services we get--and a lot of them are provided because of public demand -- the more it costs us. For we shouldn't forget that government has but one source of revenue--the people.

The greatest raids on the public dollar are staged in the name of education. They used the schools for bait in a proposed bill to levy a 2% tax on income with half of it going to reduce property tax levies for schools and the other half to reduce the state sales tax one cent, beginning Jan. 1, 1965. The Taxpayers Federation of Illinois, which fought this bill and the other proposed taxes that could be levied without a referendum, pointed out that such an income tax could be increased at future sessions of the legislature because there would be no limit on it, and that it would be administratively unworkable to reduce school property taxes.

Those plugging for more money for the schools did succeed in increasing the state aid from $252 to $297 per child, which would mean an increase in the budget of some $32-million. Where this money is coming from was not set forth by the legislative action and some are of the opinion that Gov. Kerner may veto it for lack of funds.

Another savings to the public was the action of the house public utilities committee that voted down increases in the taxes on electric utilities, companies transmitting messages, and gas utilities. The committee is deserving of thanks for its action, because such tax increases would have been on utilities that are necessities and would have been passed along to the consumers.

It is too bad that Congress will not repeal the taxes on telephone service. Such tax was imposed during the Korean War and at the time it would be but a temporary measure.

That is the trouble with imposing new taxes. One can't get rid of them.

Old taxes not only never die, they never fade away either. It is not impossible that we could be taxed into becoming a socialistic state. If taxes keep on rising it is possible that we will reach the point of diminishing return; that business and industry will no longer be able to meet their taxes and the government take over their operation.

Whatever those in power might call such a government it would be totalitarian in effect.

If you are opposed to higher taxes let your elected officials know your feelings, whether they be on local, state or national level.

You are the one that has to pay a part of the bill.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

"Anyone who goes on a reducing diet should keep it a secret," was the pronouncement of Jefferson P. Throttlebottom, freeloader and oracle of Bourbon Hill, when stopped by the office the other day.

"If one tells people he is going on a diet, nine out of 10 of those he talks to will right away tell him the diet he should follow if he wants results."

"Not only will they tell him what he should and shouldn't eat but will insist that he start on the diet then and there."

"The thing to do," Jeff went on, "is to follow the card given you by your doctor and say nothing. If anyone mentions diets pay no attention to them. Once you open your big fat mouth and admit you are trying to reduce you are a goner."

"It is something like having a cold or mentioning that you plan to whip up a batch of martinis. When you have a cold the only people you ever see are those who try to prevail upon you to try their favorite remedy. If you mention making martinis you should be prepared to be smothered by recipes and laid out with an olive in your mouth."

"Let people know you are dieting in an endeavor to take off weight and you will be swamped with advice. Everyone seems to have his favorite diet just as everyone has his favorite cold remedy or way to mix martinis."

"The doctors, if you notice, don't get out on a limb. A doctor simply tells a patient to 'get that weight off.' He doesn't tell him what to eat or what not to eat."

"Eat a balanced meal," he will say, "but don't go over 1,000 calories a day."

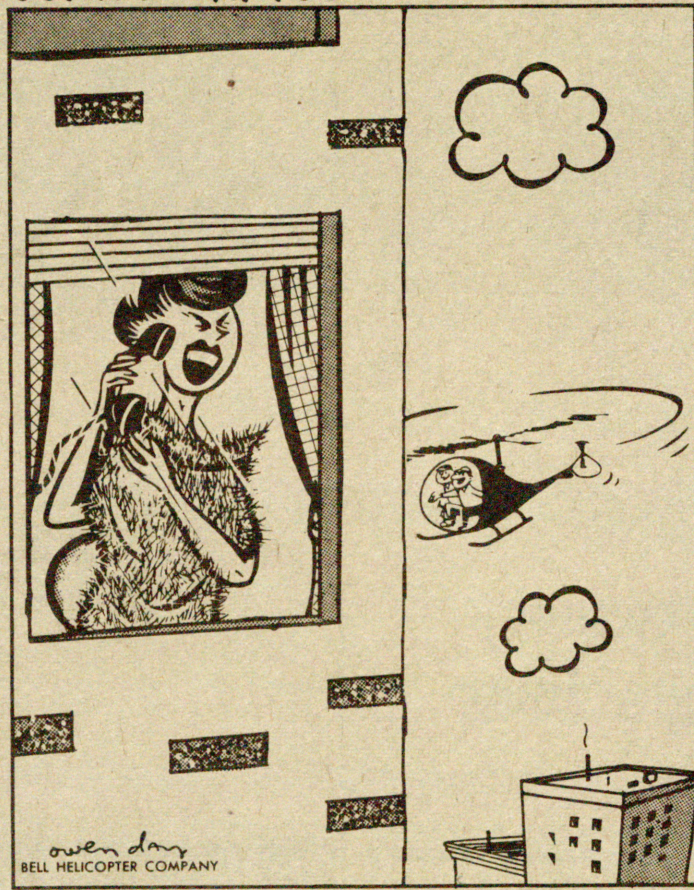

"It doesn't take much prodding to count up 1,000 calories so a person following that system must use his own judgment."

"I think that is weight problem is a subject for intensive research. Why is it that some people can eat anything and everything, fats, starches, sugars and all the rest of it in large quantities and never gain an ounce. They start in skinny and stay that way the rest of their lives."

"On the other hand it would seem there are even more people who can't eat a mouthful

without it showing on the scales. Now if it could be determined what it is that keeps one person skinny regardless of what he eats then maybe something could be added to or subtracted from the weight gainer so he could enjoy his meals too.

"Teenagers are great eaters. They appear to be hungry most of the time but you have the same thing there that plagues adults--some of these kids stay thin and others get fat. I have some friends with a 14-year-old boy. The boy is a friend too. He eats like a thresher but you wouldn't know it from looking at him--stays skinny as an orchestra leader's baton."

"I was over there for dinner the other night. We were going to eat about 6:30 but I got there a little after 5:00 because my host likes a little nip before eating and I didn't want to put him in the position of drinking alone."

"The boy was sitting in a chair, reading a magazine and watching TV. He had two bowls in his lap, one of popcorn and the other filled with potato chips. Between his feet, so it wouldn't spill, was a family size bottle of coke. Out of one pocket dangled five or six inches of that strawberry tubular type of candy that appears to be a prime favorite these days. I believe they refer to it as licorice but whether it has a licorice flavor I don't know. Certainly it looks different from any licorice I ever saw."

"Well, this young fellow would polish off a handful of potato chips; take a swig of coke; polish off a handful of popcorn; take a swig of coke; eat four or five inches of his candy; take a swig of coke--and repeat."

"Will you spoil your supper?" I asked.

"He looked at me blankly. 'Spoil supper,' he repeated. 'Gosh, supper won't be for ages yet.'"

"Fascinated I began probing, and if I do say so myself counsel for a congressional investigating committee couldn't have gotten more out of such a witness. Well, it seems that he doesn't care much for breakfast so all he had then was half a pint of orange juice, half a dozen slices of toast, a couple of eggs, a bite or two of bacon (four slices), a little cereal, jelly for his toast, and a pint of milk."

"That held him until around 10 o'clock when he had another pint of milk and a couple of sweetrolls. He was pretty hungry by lunchtime but two hamburgers, some potato chips, a big bottle of coke and two ice cream bars took up the slack until around 2 o'clock when he had a malted milk. Around 3:00 he was over at Charlie's and the two of them had eaten a big pizza pie, washed down with big cokes, and topped it off with dishes of ice cream.

"Apparently that gave him sufficient strength to get home and he easing the pangs of hunger with popcorn and potato chips, and coke of course, because dinner would be ready for another hour and a quarter."

"And let me say that he dispatched a couple of large helping of roast beef, three large mounds of mashed potatoes covered with gravy, some green beans and huge serving of squash in a way that made one wonder if he had had anything to eat for a couple of days. He finished off with a big wedge of Dutch apple pie, smothered with ice cream, and got away with more than a pint of milk. He wanted a big coke too but his mother wouldn't let him have it."

"He refused a second helping of pie, however, and his mother looked concerned."

"Don't you feel well?" she asked him.

"I guess so," the boy answered. "Only I just don't feel hungry."

"Maybe he needs a tonic?" I suggested.

"You think so?" said the mother. "Oh I don't think it amounts to anything. Probably just the weather. It has been rather warm today."

"I left shortly afterwards so I don't know what occurred later but if I were a betting man I would lay odds on that he's going thru the refrigerator by 9 o'clock. I have been worrying some since how he can sleep without eating."

Business & Finance

MAURICE P. ANGLAND

Fortune magazine economic forecast for the whole year of 1963 is a $600 billion economy as forecast last January when many news reports were predicting much less bright results. Their prediction in the July issue of their Business Roundup column, is that we will have a Gross National Product of $619 billion by spring and $633 billion by the end of 1964. These figures are based on today's price levels and are expected with or without tax cuts.

This is very good business news from a highly respected source.

The authors express belief that business could slow a bit in the next couple of months as steel inventory position will likely decline and car assembly be shortened by design change over.

However, it is noted that government emergency public works will accelerate sharply and housing is accelerating.

The article states that the most important factor in increasing business activity, is business capital appropriations. This fact is attested by the government's latest business survey. It is found that it is spending 4 per cent more on new plant and equipment every quarter in a rush to pay what Roundup has called the due-bill for postponed capital which accumulated when investment failed to bloom in last years climate of fear.

The column goes on to note that owing to the slow down last year due to fear, the economy is 3 per cent below Roundup's forecast of about eighteen months ago when they predicted a "superboom" for business investment in 1962-63. They, however, note that the present GNP is 4 per cent higher than many economists prophesied nine months ago. Growth since 1957 has averaged 3.2 per cent gain a year and business capital stock has grown only 2.3 per cent per year.

"As business now invests in order to catch up, its needs for inventory will also increase, and consumer demands as well. This circular process lies at the heart of present and prospective industrial growth."

A number of better known analysts are predicting need for considerable new capital for plant and equipment needs. However, to our knowledge, Business Roundup is the only leading column to predict the pressing need for the new capital expenditures to meet delayed capital needs.

Fortune expects a period of prolonged prosperity, but with various hazards.

"The expansion now in progress will be the longest and largest in a generation apart from booms occasioned by a shooting war. It is an historic achievement precisely because it represents the triumph of the economy's own natural forces. The performance is strengthening business confidence and the capability of the U.S. to deal with its economic future."

Altho Adenauer is the chief of state of West Germany and the official object of President Kennedy's visit to that country the man slated as Adenauer's successor is a Dr. Eberstadt who has an international reputation as an economist and expert in monetary science, - therefore most interesting to us due to imbalance in payments and recurring rumors of dollar weakness. On query as to the importance of the dollar and chances of its being in any trouble, Dr. Eberstadt replied that the dollar is most strong and any weakness in the dollar would be unthinkable.

A number of leading investment services are now repeating the predictions of Fortune's Business Roundup.

Hints For Homeowners

ELM TREES AFFECTED BY MANY DISEASES - Dutch Elm disease is probably the most damaging elm tree disease in our area, but is by no means the only one present.

A very common disease is known as wet-wood. This disease is caused by a bacteria which lives in the sapwood. It is found in other trees besides elm, but is more widespread and causes more damage in elms than other trees. The disease produces wilting of one or more branches of the tree and examination of the sapwood of the branch reveals brown streaking not unlike that associated with other diseases.

The name wet-wood comes from accumulation of sap in the tree which produces a water-soaked condition. In addition, fermentation of the sap produces gas in large amounts in the trunk, creating very high pressures as high as 60 pounds per square inch. These high pressures force sap out of cracks in crotches and trunks, and through wounds made by the removal of branches. The sap soon dries to form white or gray encrustations below crotches and wounds, creating a very characteristic symptom. If these encrustations are present on a tree, wet-wood is to be suspected.

Another vascular disease producing brown discoloration in the affected elm branches is Verticillium wilt. This disease is common on a number of other types of trees and is particularly destructive on maple.

The leaves of the affected tree may wilt at any time during the growing season. Single branches or the entire tree may wilt at one time. Some trees may show a limited amount of wilt one year, recover, and not wilt in succeeding years. Others may wilt every year until the tree finally succumbs. Often branches which show wilt will produce new leaves three or four weeks later.

Dothiorella wilt is a third vascular disease of elms, the disease causes yellowing, curling, and wilting of the leaves, followed by defoliation, development of cankers, and die-back of affected branches.

Diseased bark turns reddish brown and becomes shrunken. In time, black raised pustules of the fungus appear in the diseased bark.

Civic Association's Picnic Social Success

MRS. EDWARD HOVI
479-5740

The Arbury Hills Civic Association held its third annual family picnic at the Mokena Community park on Sunday, June 23. The weather was clear and hot and the turnout was the best ever had for the picnics.

There were refreshments served, the cost of which was included in the cost of the family picnic. Also included were the prizes for the games and races.

There were races for all ages from the toddler to the adults. The children received toys as prizes, while the adults received ribbons for first, second and third prizes.

There were egg throwing contests for the adults, along with water filled balloons for a throwing encore. There were three - legged contests and wheel-barrow contests for the adults as well.

The children entered into the usual group of running races with gusto and followed it with several matches of tug of war. Something out of the ordinary in contests was the twist contest for both the adults and the young people. The prize for the young people was a record to each member of the couple, while the adults received a miniature loving cups as their award.

There was an unfortunate ending to an enjoyable day. There had been a hardball game also scheduled for the same time as the picnic. Several times through the afternoon foul balls were hit into the crowds of picnickers with no serious damage done. However, late in the afternoon one foul ball was hit into the crowd, which hit Mrs. Al Behnke between the eyes.

She was knocked unconscious and rushed to Silver Cross Hospital in Joliet in Deputy Surma's car where she was given x-rays and emergency treatment.

It was determined thru the x-rays that she had received a broken nose. Mrs. Behnke will require surgery to repair the damage done.

The picnic was considered to be a social success prior to the fracas. Financially speaking the picnic was not entirely successful since there was a deficit of slightly under ten dollars when all the proceeds and expenditures were totaled.

Saturday, being the first Saturday of the month, there will be the regular monthly paper drive held by the Summit Hill Boy Scout Troop 10. Those persons who will be contributing to the drive are asked to place their donations either at the front door or at the garage door, NOT at the curb, since this would interfere with the garbage collections which also take place on Saturday morning.

The contributions of newspapers, magazines, cardboard, or other easily transported material should be bundled in some manner, and should be put out BEFORE 9 o'clock in the morning so that you will not miss the eager beavers on their rounds.

The proceeds from these monthly newspaper drives are being used to equip the troop with camping equipment and other items needed for a well equipped troop.

The First Nighters will not have their meeting at the usual time due to the July 4th holiday. The meeting date instead will be on Thursday, July 18.

The Arbury Hills Kindergarten Organization wishes to announce that there is only one more opening for the fall session of kindergarten. After this one opening is filled, there will be a waiting list for those who apply after the dead line.

The registration fee at this time is $5 to be paid immediately. The second $5 registration fee will be payable at the beginning of the second semester after the start of 1964. The money is to be paid to Mrs. Mary Mundt at 19537 South Beechnut Drive, telephone 479-6360.

A child to be eligible must reach the age of five by Dec. 1963.

Willis Guths Celebrate Their Silver Wedding

Miss Shirley Guth and Mr. and Mrs. George Long gave a surprise party recently in honor of the former's parents, Mr.

and Mrs. Willis Guth, on their 25th wedding anniversary.

The party was given in the Long home at Elmhurst to which some 30 relatives and guests attended.

The Guths were married in Chicago, June 4, 1938 and have resided in Mokena for the past seven years. Guth is employed in the construction business.

Plans were discussed for a field trip to the Pepperidge Farm and a stain glass window factory during the month of July, when members of the girls Busy Hour 4-H club met in the home of Miss Linda Istel this past week. The club will also conduct a pop booth at the Fourth of July celebration in Mokena.

During the meeting, demonstrations were given by: June Swanberg, fruit salad; Linda Istel, funny cake and Kathy Halslet, snicker-doodles.

Mrs. Ernest Edwards and grandson Wally and her sister Mrs. Emilie Filek of Chicago returned recently from a three weeks motor trip to California.

While in California they visited with Mrs. Edwards' son, Chief Petty Officer Ernest Edwards Jr., of Anaheim, who recently retired from the Navy after a service of 20 years. His wife and children, Ginger, Gale and Lynn have spent the past month with her mother Mrs. Willard Carey of Joliet, and at present are visiting in the Edwards home at Mokena.

Allan, David and Donna Guth are spending several weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Douglas, who are the owner and operators of Cedar Knob Resort, Benton, Kentucky. The youths parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Guth of Kohlwood Estates, Mokena, spent a week with the family.

Mrs. Andrew Cappel, First street, underwent an emergency appendectomy operation Wednesday morning at Silver Cross hospital.

Mrs. Florence Brueser and the late Edward Brueser of Woodland Circle, Mokena, announces the marriage of her son Robert Edward to Miss Ellen Decker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Decker of St. Louis, Mo.

The wedding ceremony was held Saturday, June 22 in the United Presbyterian church at Granite City, Ill. and a reception was held in the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wright of Ellisville, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manhart, sister and brother-in-law of the groom attended the wedding and the former served as best man.

Following a short wedding trip the young couple will reside in Mokena. Mr. Brueser is employed by the A & P Tea Com-

Add Looks To Efficiency In Oak Forest Kitchen

Oak Forest hospital, 159th and S. Cicero Avenue, has remodeled their main kitchen--making it more efficient and at the same time better looking.

With a crew of specialists, as expert as in the most fabulous beauty salon, Oak Forest Supt. Edmund G. Lawler and dietitians figured the rejuvenation which would permit the kitchen to live up to its potential - maximum efficiency and economy of operation.

They gave it a new look by fitting it with the proper foundation - a sandy shaded and surfaced floor tiling, less slippery than the dull red, worn terrazzo.

Next they changed its complexion with a creamy beige wall tile - in a matrisse finish as the cosmeticians would say. Now instead of the shiny, spotted, non-descript color which glared from the walls for 50 years, the new make-up gives the room a much larger and younger look.

Then they added a new heart - or that which would warm the heart of anyone expected to keep hot the 8,000 meals prepared each day for the 2,400 patients, and around the clock staff. It's a 24 x 5 foot food warmer. Halfway into its depth are coil heated wells which hold the containers of cooked foods.

Chefs ladle the well-warmed food into steam-heated containers on the food carts which roll over eight miles of corridors to patients' wards. Their trays are made up by food service workers.

This food warmer is set before an open space to accommodate the procession of carts. It is fed and backed up by five cook stoves, and 21 aluminum, glass windowed ovens, 4 x 4 feet, stacked three high against the L shaped wall.

Also under vapor and odor collecting aluminum canopies to the right of the food warmer are four 60 gallon steam kettles which cook the patients' vegetables and soups, and three 75 gallon urns where the food transporters stop to fill up gallon coffee thermos jugs.

A glass enclosed production office in the kitchen permits observation of staff and procedures. On its wall is a patients' census chart which lists the special, and the general diets as a portion control measure.

The kitchen's alcove has been converted into a scullery, within reach of the pots and pans.

While rooms for vegetable preparation, eight more steam kettles, dishwashing, and garbage disposal are being brought up to standards - one fifth of the bakery - which operates mostly at night - is being used for kitchen detail.

Scheduled for improvement later this year are the walk-in refrigerators and the butcher shop, the cart room and the staff rest rooms.

Upon completion, scheduled for late 1963, the three phases will have cost $275,000, provided thru the 1957 bond issue.

Gas Availability Brings Industries Into Region

Approximately 500 stockholders and guests attended Northern Illinois Gas Company's annual stockholder meeting at Glenbard East high school in Lombard.

All nine NI-Gas directors were re-elected. Stockholders also ratified the board of directors' appointment of Arthur Andersen & Co. as independent auditors for the company for 1963.

For the third year in a row, a stockholder proposal relating to preemptive rights was rejected by the shareholders.

Marvin Chandler, NI-Gas president, in his report to stockholders, emphasized how customers, employees and investors all benefit from the utility's profitable operations. A rate reduction of about $1 million annually was announced by NI-Gas early last month to be effective July 1, the second year in a row its customers have benefited by a reduction of that amount. The utility's 3,500 employees also received wage increases and promotions amounting to about $1 million a year. The most recent dividend increase, on May 1, 1963, will pass on an additional $1 1/4 million annually to stockholders.

Communities have benefited thru the company's area industrial development program. This activity, in cooperation with other firms and many interested state and local agencies, was an important factor in 252 industrial companies making arrangements to locate in the gas company's service territory in 1962. These new companies are bringing in an estimated total of 11,800 new jobs.

Incidentally, NI-Gas' area industrial development program recently was recognized with a coveted Silver Anvil award presented to the utility by the Public Relations Society of America.

C. J. Gauthier, NI-Gas vice president (operations), reviewed NI-Gas' total gas energy concept. That is, all energy needed in a building -- including electricity for lighting and other power, and steam for heating and cooling -- comes from natural gas turbines or engines. Gas turbines are now in use at the utility's division headquarters in Glen Ellyn; they also are being installed at the company's new general office at Route 59 and the East-West Tollway.

"At the present time," Gauthier emphasized, "we do not plan an adaptation of the total gas energy system for use in the home."

Following the meeting, stockholders and guests toured the gas company's division headquarters in nearby Glen Ellyn, and saw the turbines in operation.

DOESN'T LIKE PRESIDENTIAL TOUR

Dear Sir:

President Kennedy began his much heralded European junket last Sunday. This trip was not necessary and neither was it well timed. This waste of taxpayers hard earned cash probably will cost a minimum of a million dollars and accomplish nothing more than offend a few more of our friends on the Continent.

Italy, some sight-seeing can be done but this is about all. The Government is most unstable due to recent elections and is not in such condition to make constructive talks (what am I saying?) possible. This is fortunate. The end result of which most likely would have been the promise of more Foreign Aid.

The new pope has been chosen but not yet ceremoniously and officially installed. In preparation for this great event much is to be done. It is beyond reason to expect that a Chief-of-State would be welcomed with much gusto at this time.

In Great Britain a scandal broke recently which is vibrating the government much as did the earthquake of 1906 when it shook San Francisco. Neither is the welcome mat showing there. Maybe this stop-over will not be a total loss. John can be entertained by his sister-in-law, the Princess Radziwill. JFK is promising to sacrifice Our American cities to hostile bombs, this he refused to do in the Cuban situation, if the defense of Germany should cause retaliation by Mr. Khrushchev. The chancellor, Adenauer is not buying much of John's campaign style promises. The chancellor has already stated that he will place his confidence in DeGaulle rather than with us. He knows how our appealing state department fights Communism. The present method of warfare is to choke the enemy with cake and ice cream.

As for visiting France, this is not included in the itinerary. John and his entourage would be thrown out of the country and he knows this. The new United States policy is not acceptable by the French therefore fireside chats are not desired at this time. These policies are not very palatable in Germany either, according to

ASCS Lists Reseal Corn Programs

The Will County ASCS office, 1256 W. Jefferson st., Joliet, wishes to inform interested producers of the reseal programs available for the 1963-64 storage period.

There will be NO reseal program for soybeans.

The following are reseal programs for corn:

1960 - reseal extension 1 - shelled corn only

1961 reseal - continued thru second year of original two year

reseal - shelled corn only

1962 reseal - ear or shelled corn.

These programs are extended for one year, only. The storage rate is 14 cents per bushel if the corn is held thru July 31, 1964, and will be prorated if the loan is repaid or called for any reason.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Form Competitive Swim Club In Sandburg Area

Palos area students have formed the Castle Acres Swim Team, a competitive swimming club to accommodate serious swimmers who would like to compete on an amateur level with swimmers from other clubs, both locally and nationally.

This is an outgrowth of the latest reports.

The reception committees and the public over there have put on some impressive shows at his various stops. The old-fashioned medicine shows, which peddled their famous fake elixirs, could assemble good crowds in their heyday. However, JFK the master medicine man shows superior abilities when it comes to gathering into the range of his voice, the curious and gullible.

Patriotically, Henry W. Hicks 11301 W. 155th st.

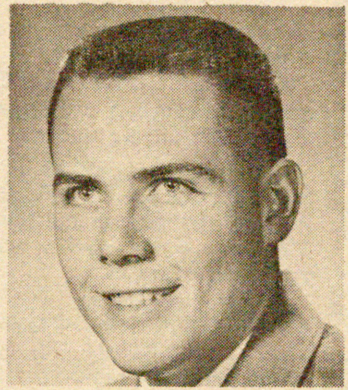

P.S. Have fun Mr. President we will stay home and work to earn more dollars for you to squander. We will watch the store until you return.

Neptune Swim club of Carl Sandburg High school which, for the past three years has successfully competed in AAU Meets and taken first places in the Chicago Tribune Meet, district, sectional and state J.C. meets, and has had qualifiers in the Juniors Olympics.

Any serious swimmers and divers from eight year olds thru high school in any of the surrounding areas are urged to join. Interested students may call Mrs. W.J. Cross Jr. at GI. 8-1045 or Mrs. W. H. McNaughton at GI. 8-3639. Dues at $5 for one student, or $10 for a family with two or more students. All swimmers taking part will be registered with the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU). Robert Grindy and John Weber of Carl Sandburg high school will coach the swimmers and attend all of the meets. Because there are no facilities for competitive swimming for girls in the high school swimming programs, this is an excellent opportunity for girls, as well as boys, to match their swimming skills with others.

The parent-officers are: Harry Stebner, president; Mrs. Z. Errol Smith, vice president; Mrs. Jerry Pech, secretary; Frank Ferguson, treasurer; Mrs. L. B. Gemeinhardt and Mrs. Alex Buy, transportation committee; Mrs. Cross and Mrs. McNaughton, membership committee; and Mrs. G. A. Mayhall, Publicity.

There will be a meeting for the parents of all interested swimmers on Tuesday, July 9, in the club room of the Palos Bowl at 11025 Southwest Highway, Palos Hills.

JAMES WILLIAM GEE, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gee, received his bachelor of arts degree from Monmouth college June 10.

James was president of Phi Alpha Sigma.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES MURDOCH of 185th and Wolf road, Mokena, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Virginia to Donald Pellizzaro, son of Mrs. Joseph Pellizzaro of Crystal Falls, Michigan.

The marriage will take place July 20 at 11:30 a.m. at St. Mary's Mokena, Father Cecil Koop, officiating. (Leon photo)

At Midyear: 1963, Joliet Federal announces $1,972,404.13

IN REWARDS PAID TO OUR SAVERS!

These dividends--paid to our savers for the first 6 months of 1963--are rewards for practicing the virtue of thrift. And for thousands of Joliet and Will County savers, it represents a greater measure of financial well-being and security.

This sum also points out the strength and size of Joliet Federal--that enables this association to provide you with the numerous conveniences you enjoy when you save--or borrow--here. Your share of these dividends depends only by the amount of your savings. The more you save--the greater the amount you earn. Add to--or open--your savings account here now, and get your share of the earnings for the second dividend period at the end of this year.

HOW YOUR SAVINGS WORK - AND EARN FOR YOU

Joliet Federal invests the major portion of savings into the finest investment in America--first mortgage home loans--throughout Will County. This automatically stimulates employment. The wages paid the building, furnishings, manufacturing and supply trades goes into purchases from local merchants, who in turn pay it in wages--and much of this money is put back into savings accounts--and the money cycle begins all over again. In this way, Joliet Federal is able to play a part in increasing your property values, creating more jobs, building stronger businesses--and continually adding to the growth and prosperity of Will County.

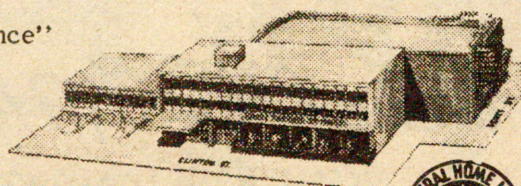

GET YOUR FULL SHARE OF PROFITS AT OUR NEXT DIVIDEND PERIOD BY OPENING YOUR SAVINGS ACCOUNT AT JOLIET FEDERAL ON OR BEFORE JULY 15th.

IN MEMORIAM
MONSON, Amanda Christine ---
In loving memory of my wife who passed away four years ago July 8.
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have lost can tell Of the grief that is borne in silence
For the one we loved so well surrounded by friends, we are lonesome
Amidst our pleasures, we are blue,
A smile on our face, still a heartache
Aching and longing for you,
Greatly missed by
Husband, Children and Grandchildren

SHORT AND SWEET

The federal government has more than 3 billion secret documents—just about enough to keep all the nation's sewing circles in gossip for some years to come...

The cost of fringe benefits keeps rising sharply. They now represent 25% of the average payroll; have jumped 35% over 1952 levels...

There are now more than 19 million dairy cows in the U.S.—about one cow for each nine Americans... Not a single steam locomotive has been built for American railroads since 1953...

An Illinois agriculturist claims that growing corn subjected to music produces more bushels per acre than that which is silently grown. Does this mean that only rock-and-roll farm hands will now be in demand?

A Surrey With The Fringe On Top

JOHN W. ALLEN

Southern Illinois University
A noted musical play, "Ok-lahoma" was staged in 1942. One of its song hits, "The Surrey With The Fringe On Top" remains popular and is heard on occasions. The other day we listened to a recording of it. The next day a photograph of a real "surrey with the fringe on top" made in Nashville, Illinois, came to hand. The combined effect was to turn thoughts to that once common vehicle that plied pre-automobile roads in southern Illinois. Now, excepting an occasional glimpse of one in some Amish settlement over the country or at some pioneer re-enactment, they are gone. Along with the surrey went its vehicular cousins, the carts and buggies, all to become a part of our vanished landscape.

This disappearance came about so slowly and quietly that few took note of it. People simply looked about one morning and none were to be seen, not even under the few tumbled down buggy sheds or in surviving carriage houses. Also, there were no longer any livery stables where one could find an array of them for rental purposes. Once there were literally thousands of livery stables. Today it is doubtful if one survives in all America. The horse and buggy days definitely are gone. To older persons they remain a onetime institution.

Buggies were considered a necessity as well as a status symbol. Today an automobile often is thought as an evidence of accomplishment. Many a high school boy thinks it lifts him from mediocrity and makes him a social asset. Buggies once did that.

A trim, cut-under runabout, neatly striped, moved its owner several rungs up the social ladder. Rubber tires added another peg or two. A buggy with a narrower bed than usual could be counted to add somewhat.

A slender, wrapped, flexible rattan whip with colored bands and a brilliant tassel added to the owner's pride. In summer a flowered linen laprobe was favored. In winter it was a heavy carpet-like one with the figure of an owl, dog, or tiger with great glass eyes. Many owners prized their whips and laprobes so highly that they carried them into church, lest some envious culprit steal them.

There were other trappings to a nice rig. Harness came in for special attention. A narrow collar and thin hames were standard equipment. There always was the blind bridle, apparently designed to prevent any inquisitive horse from spying on the passengers. There was the check or gag rein that held the horse's head cruelly high.

Those wishing to be more fastidious, particularly when roads were not too muddy, used breast harness. In such cases there were no collars and hames. The horse drew the buggy by a broad strap across his breast. Buggy bridges often were highly decorated.

In winter many a considerable driver carried along a blanket to spread over the horse at the end of a brisk drive.

In summer the horse might wear a fly net that even included ear covers. The mane, foretop, fetlocks and hairy ears were trimmed and shaped to the owners' fancy. Hoofs were carefully trimmed, cleaned and then greased with wool fat to make them shine.

Names of the buggies once on sale will arouse memories among those older. Some were the Moon, Hudson, Studebaker, and Dexter. Of course there were the aristocrats among buggies, the Brewsters, that sold for as much as $2500.

So far as has been learned there is only one factory still making buggies in America.

Parish Group To Learn About Wine Cookery

The Chicago area's new Foremost Wine Society will stage a program on "Cooking with Wines" for the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Michael's parish of Orland Park Tuesday, July 9, at 1:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Raymond Barry, 14412 S. Oakley, Orland Park.

Madalyn Sherry, field director of the Foremost Wine Society, and E. T. Gholson of the Wine Advisory Board will speak on cooking with wines and show the film, "How to Cook a Wolf", which features cooking with wines, outdoor cooking and a party game with wines.

The program will be for the benefit of the parish's new church.

This one is at Lawrenceburg, Ind. With its diminished force of aging workmen it turns out about 300 vehicles a year. All are custom made. When an order is received the buggy is assembled.

The standard size of a buggy bed was 23 by 56 inches. Each had its shiny patent leather dash and whipsocket. Accidents naturally occurred and some local blacksmiths became widely known for their skill in making repairs.

Some of the terms used in speaking of buggies and harness are baffling now. Many would be puzzled to identify a cross-tree, crupper, breeching, shafts, bellyband or backband, fifth wheel, reach, hound, rub iron, blinkers, buggy wrench, tugs, hold-backs, pole, bows, and storm curtains.

In southern Illinois, 60 years ago, it was said that a factory at Metropolis in Massac County bent more wooden bows for buggy tops than any other place in the world.

Just how many young men now, if given a knocked down buggy, a pair of gently horses, and unassembled harness could properly put them together, place the bay horse on the off-side and drive away?

HOMER NEWS

BY ELIZABETH ANDERSON

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon, June 28, at the Goodale Funeral Home for Frank C. Parker, aged 78, who died at his home on 151st St., Homer Twp., Tuesday morning after a long illness. The Rev. George Moulthrop of Lockport Congregational church, was the officiating clergyman, and burial was in Brooks cemetery.

Born in Lemont twp., Frank was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Parker, and had lived in this area throughout his life. He retired from farming a few years ago because of failing health.

He is survived by his wife,

Irene (nee White), and several nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by two sisters and three brothers. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America.

A house belonging to Fred Helmke and occupied by the Erwin Loucks family on E. Bruce Rd., Homer twp., was ransacked by vandals during the past weekend. Windows were shattered and other damage done.

A Homer twp. mowing machine, working on the roadside on Bruce Rd., Wednesday morning, tipped over, caught fire and was badly damaged. The Homer Fire Department was called to a fire on Rte. 45 and 159th St. last Monday when a large building housing baled hay burned. Orland and Lockport fire equipment was also called and fought the blaze for several hours. They were hampered by lack of water and Lockport firemen made several trips to town for water.

Mrs. George Bowdon of Nebraska was a visitor in the home of the Robert Shepherds on Monday. The two families were neighbors when both lived near Lemont many years ago.

Stephen Reid, son of the Don Reids, was guest of honor at a birthday party in his home Tuesday afternoon. His guests were a group of young school friends.

Jim Jungels, Mark and Tom Zander and Greg Carlson were among those who went with the Lockport Future Farmers, to a cattle-judging demonstration at Urbana last Tuesday. They were accompanied by their school counselor, Mr. Lawrence. Two carloads from the Lockport Chapter attended.

Mrs. Robert Shepherd, assisted by her granddaughter, Linda, served refreshments at the meeting of the Missionary Society at Homer Church Thursday. Highlighting the occasion was a birthday cake honoring Mrs. Shepherd. Routine reports were read and Miss Linda gave appropriate readings from farm magazines. A discussion on memorials was held. July meeting will feature a picnic dinner.

Mr. John Lacey and his grandson, Steve Lynkooh, of Ohio are guests in the Stanley Cox home. Mr. Lacey is Mrs. Cox's grandfather.

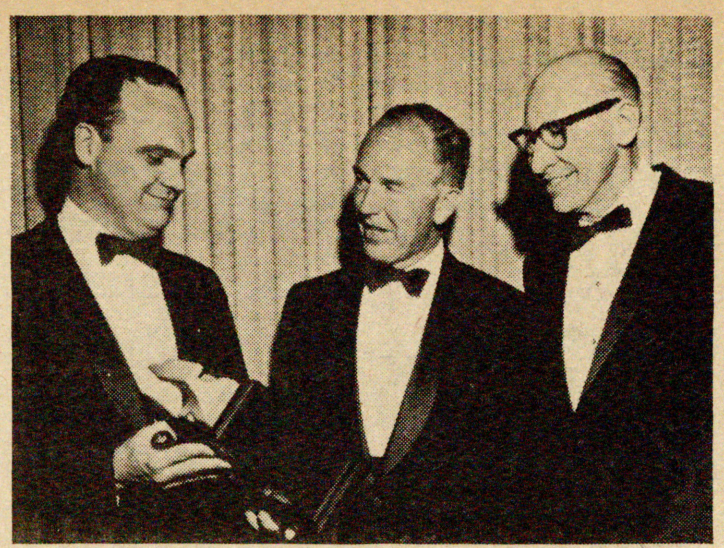

About 200 people enjoyed a delicious fish supper at Homer Church Friday evening. Kitchen arrangements were made by Mrs. Wrey White; Mrs. Frank Townsend supervised the dining-room; John Hollister, Rev. Cox and Frank Townsend saw that the fish was exactly the right brown; and a group of young ladies did an efficient job at serving, besides the many who provided food and did the innumerable tasks which such a project involves. Guests were present from Lockport, Joliet, New Lenox, Marley and Plainfield.

Several Homer young people were among the group of pleasure-seekers who went by chartered bus from Lockport High to Riverview Park Friday evening. They were accompanied by eight adults, and the vehicle was driven by Mrs. Alan Shepherd, a 33-C school bus driver.

The Youth group of Homer Church enjoyed a Roller Skating party at Tinley Park Wednesday evening.

There will be no services at Homer Church on July 7 and 14.

WARD B. STEVENSON, president of Public Relations Society of America presents Silver Anvil award to George W. Ryerson, Northern Illinois Gas Co. secretary and director of public relations, and H.J. Send Tool Firm Head To Jail In Income Tax Bribery Case

(CNS) Saying that bribery of government officials should not go unpunished, U.S. District Judge Richard B. Austin has imposed a sentence of six months and one day on Leo J. Milazzo, 42 years old, 16411 Claire Lane, South Holland, who was found guilty by a jury May 29 of paying an internal revenue agent $1,000 to reduce a tax deficiency assessment from $7,500 to $750. Sentence was pronounced last week.

Milazzo, president of the Milazzo Tool and Manufacturing Company, 9139 South Kedzie, Evergreen Park, was convicted with the use of electronic equipment by two agents who sat in a car opposite his office and monitored his conversation with another agent who has been sent to audit his books. They were able to corroborate the first agent's testimony and had available a tape recording of the conversations which was not, however, played for the jury.

The extra day on the sentence will permit Milazzo to be paroled because he will serve it in a federal prison. Sentences of six months or less must be served in the county jail, in full. "Some people in this building close by think a conviction is sufficient punishment," said Judge Austin, in imposing sentence. "I wouldn't want the impression to get out that anyone can attempt to bribe a federal officer with impunity."

This was taken as a criticism of a $1,000 fine imposed recently by U.S. District Judge James B. Parsons, whose courtroom is across the hall from Judge Austin, upon Frank LaBruno, Sr., 4919 West Berenice ave., a furniture company foreman, who was also convicted by a jury of paying a $500 bribe to an internal revenue agent in an investigation of his personal taxes.

Comment by one federal judge about the sentence given by another was considered highly unusual.

Meanwhile, a jury before U.S. District Judge Edwin A. Robson returned a sealed verdict of not guilty, discharging a third man accused of a bribe attempt in the IRS' recent drive on such cases. He was Boris E. Teron, 30 years old, 3342 West North ave., owner of Pet Haven, a pet shop at that address who was accused of paying $650 last April 17 to Agent Herbert Goldbeck.

In the Teron case, the government did not use any of its electronic evidence again obtained by listening in on a Fargo device, which is worn under the coat of the interviewing agent and broadcasts to a receiver in the car of other agents parked nearby, as well as making a tape recording.

Teron denied the money was a bribe, and said it was payment for "clearance" on his $5,600 assessment. He did offer to get the agent a cat or dog if he ever wanted one, he said.

In the Milazzo case, Defense Attorney Jerome Rotenberg argued entrapment to the jury, citing eleven visits to Milazzo by the agent in the case, Manuel Sanford, in several of which he brought along electronic equipment, culminating in the payment of $500 each on July 9 and 10, 1962, on which latter date the arrest was made. Sanford testified on each visit he was coached by agents from the inspection division, who sat outside, on what to say and do.

"Sanford came out there with one purpose, to teach Milazzo how to become a criminal," Rotenberg told the jury. "As early as June 30, he wore a Fargo set, although there is no evidence on what basis he suspected Milazzo of offering a bribe."

Testimony by Sanford and Warren Platt, one of the inspection division monitors, showed the first offer by Milazzo was on July 2, when he offered to buy Sanford "a cup of coffee or a coke". On July 6, the inspectors followed the two to 95th and Cicero where they entered a men's wear store, and heard Milazzo offer to buy Sanford first a tie, which he declined, then a hat, which he said he never wore, and finally a sport coat, to which they heard no answer.

On the way back to Milazzo's office they picked up his statement in the car ahead that these offers had "nothing to do with the tax settlement, but are just a gesture of appreciation."

Finally, on Monday, July 9, sitting across the street from the office, they heard the conversation when Milazzo opened a desk drawer that held five $100 bills, but only with Sanford's cooperation in asking questions were able to get it on record.

"This is for you," Platt said Milazzo told Sanford.

"I don't know what this is about? What do you want me to do?" asked Sanford. "This looks like five $100 bills. 1-2-3-4-5."

"I would like you to reduce the assessment in half, to $2,500 or $2,000, how would that look to your office?" Milazzo was reported as answering. "For another $500 would you reduce it to $750?"

The inspectors observed Milazzo through the window from across the street go to the phone, and heard him through the Fargo device ask his mother to send him $500 because he was "going out of town tomorrow."

The following day he was arrested, on paying the other $500.
